AMERICAN WOMEN WRITERS IN MUSEUMS AND LIBRARIES

V8-PDF18074 | 2008-11-04 | 27 Pages | Size 960 KB

In the 19th and early 20th centuries, the majority of women were forced to seek their education outside the walls of American universities. Many turned to museums and libraries, for their own enlightenment, for formal education, and also for their careers. In Roffmans close readings of four modernist writers "Edith Wharton, Nella Larsen, Marianne Moore, and Ruth Benedict" she studied the that modernist women writers were simultaneously critical of and shaped by these institutions. From the Modernist Annex offers new and critically significant ways of understanding these writers and their texts, the distribution of knowledge, and the complicated place of women in modernist institutions.
